Canton approves employee wage increases

Members of the Canton Township Board of Trustees approved a wage increase for part-time seasonal employees during their regular meeting last week.

The new wage scale for all current and newly hired part-time positions will become effective April 1 and will increase the minimum wage from $10 to $13 per hour and puts each township employee on a path to $15 per hour, according to a statement from township officials.

“We’re proud to increase our minimum wage to $13 an hour and be putting every employee in Canton Township on a path to $15 an hour,” said Township Supervisor Anne Marie

The new wage scale for all current and newly hired part-time positions will become effective April 1.

Graham-Hudak. “This wage increase is necessary to not only remain competitive in employee attraction, but also to retain our current part-time staff. Our part-time employees are an integral part of our operations, and we value their contributions immensely. Around 100 part-time positions were left unfilled last summer, which reduced the number of programs and services that could have been offered to the community.”

Part-time employees making $13 per hour would be eligible for $1 per hour increases in years one and two of working for the township to reach $15 per hour.

Canton Township part-time employees make up a dedicated workforce who contribute significantly to the overall operations and are essential for the facilitation of programs and services as well as the care and maintenance of township facilities, parks, and open spaces, officials said. The township part-time wage scale was last updated in 2016. Full-time employees in the township are all paid at $15 or more per hour.

As part of the new compensation package, part-time employees will also be offered a complimentary membership to the Summit on the Park and discounts to events at Leisure Services facilities like the Village Theatre.

The Canton Leisure Services Department typically employs as many as 350 part-time and seasonal employees during the summer, making up 85 percent of the department staffing, as well as contributing an average of 200,000 hours of labor annually, officials said.

‘Royale’ treatment Leftovers sweep to win 5th annual city curling tournament

While the Super Bowl may have attracted more publicity, the real sporting event of the year took place in Romulus Feb. 13.

The 5th Annual Curling Royale tournament in Romulus attracted more than 50 players, many from outside the city, to Mary Ann Banks Park on Sunday. The event, always scheduled for the second Saturday in February, had to be moved to Sunday this year due to the condition of the ice.

Curling is a sport in which players slide granite stones using a broom like tool on a sheet of ice toward a target area which is segmented into four concentric circles. Players do not wear skates while attempting to best others at moving the stones into the goal.

The main organizer of the event is Mayor Robert McCraight, a long-time curling fan who noted that because the soft ice forced the tournament to move to Sunday, many of the regular volunteers were not able to participate. While it was necessary to make a lot of adjustments, including drafting city first lady, Kendra McCraight, to do the announcing, the event managed to generate a great deal of fun and about $1,000 for the Romulus Flyers Youth Football and Cheer organization.

Winning team this year was “The Leftovers” a last-minute addition of four players drafted to complete a needed final competition bracket. The team included McCraight, who said because he is usually so busy with tournament duties he rarely gets to play, sisters Kayla and Rachel Leonard, who usually volunteer in the concession area, and Durrice Green, who “happened by in his truck.” The four were as surprised as the rest of the crowd when they managed to best all the other teams and win the tournament.

McCraight said it “was really fun to participate” this year. The funds generated from the event will be used to help pay for new uniforms for the youth football players and cheerleaders.

He said the number of players from outside the city was a surprise this year as the event continues to grow in popularity.

“We had a lot of newcomers from outside the city. I think a lot of people saw it on the internet and decided to come out.” He said the sport is growing and the tournament “is getting better every year.”

During the meeting of the city council Feb. 14, McCraight thanked all the participants and Fire Chief Kevin Krause for his help in organizing the tournament. He also thanked Planning Commissioners Jimmy Crova and Jerry Frederick for “the great job in setting up.” McCraight mentioned the efforts of the Leonard sisters in providing refreshments and making sure everyone was served prior to joining his team on the ice for their sporting debut.

McCraight also thanked corporate sponsor Van Born Concrete for their help this year. “Every year, they donate the stones, but this year they also donated labor,” he said. “We couldn’t do it without them.”

“Remember, the second Saturday in February,” McCraight said. “We’ll be there next year so come on out.”

Township fire department recruiting job candidates

Canton Township officials are currently encouraging qualified applicants to apply for the open position as a firefighter/medic.

The salary range for the position is $51,430 to $85,244 annually. According to officials, a newly-hired employee may be placed above the starting wage up to the third year rate in the wage scale commensurate with previous firefighting experience with a full-time department.

Duties of a firefighter/medic in the township include the protection of life and property through combating, extinguishing, and preventing fires, and providing emergency medical service (EMS) activities often performed under conditions which require strenuous physical exertion. Additional duties include participation in code enforcement activities performed by fire prevention, supervised drills, and training in fire-fighting and EMS skills. Some time is spent in special and routine maintenance of equipment and apparatus and routine care of buildings and grounds, as well as public education activities, officials added.

Work is normally performed under close supervision in accordance with well-defined procedures, and is inspected in process and upon completion by a fire department captain. Occasionally, employees in this class may be required to relieve an officer of higher rank and when so assigned, are responsible for the management of all station programs and the supervision of assigned fire stations and equipment.

Employees in this position may be assigned to work on special assignments which call for special abilities and knowledge attained through experience and training. Successful candidates must attend, comprehend, and complete annual training requirements necessary to maintain required certifications and licenses, officials stressed.

In addition to filling the budgeted vacancy, an employment eligibility list will be established to fill any additional budgeted vacancies that may occur during the next 12 months.

Applicants are encouraged to apply early. Interviews will be scheduled as qualified candidates are identified, according to a prepared statement from township officials.

SUMPTER - WAYNE

Township amends marijuana growing rules

Members of the Sumpter Township Board of Trustees unanimously approved changes to local ordinances governing zoning for the growing of marijuana.

The changes to the local ordinances were recommended to the board of trustees by members of the township planning commission in an effort to reconcile the local ordinances with state regulations, explained Trustee Matt Oddy, who also serves on the planning commission. He explained that the recommendation was “in the spirit of matching the current marijuana licensing with current township zoning.”

The changes will restrict the growing of marijuana in the township for commercial purposes to areas zoned as light industrial. The changes will not affect current commercial growers or those growing marijuana under the Michigan Marijuana Act (MMA) in their primary residence. The ordinances will affect any new commercial growers in Sumpter Township.

Oddy explained that the township had ordinances in place for provisioning centers but the Michigan Townships Association recommended a change to ensure compliance with all state laws. Oddy explained that the ordinance amendment does not restrict caregivers growing at homes or current commercial operations. “If they are already operating we would consider them legal under MMA,” Oddy explained in response to a question from Trustee Peggy Morgan about the effect on current commercial growers.

Township attorney Rob Young said commercial operations would remain within the law “as long as they continue without interruption. If they shut down for any amount of time, and then reopen, it would have to be in a light industrial zone,” he said.

A decision by the Michigan State Supreme Court allows municipalities to regulate locations of marijuana growing through zoning regulations.

Discussion of the amendments took place at planning commission meetings and at three public meetings. A public hearing on the matter took place in December.

Trustee Don LaPorte was excused from the meeting.

Call home Wayne police collect used cell phones for servicemen

Wayne police are collecting used or broken cellular telephones to help those serving in the armed forces stay in contact with their families. The phone collection is a partnership with a non-profit organization called Cell Phones for Soldiers.

Cell Phones for Soldiers representatives sends the broken or used cellular phones to ReCellular which recycles them.

ReCellular pays Cell Phones for Soldiers for the used cell telephones which then purchases pre-paid phone cards for service men and women stationed abroad. The pre-paid phone cards provide the service men and women with one hour of cell time to talk to their families.

Cell Phones for Soldiers was founded by teens Robbie and Brittany Bergquist from Norwell, MA, with $21. Since then, the registered 501c3 non-profit organization has raised almost $2 million in donations and distributed more than 500,000 prepaid calling cards to service men. Used or damaged cell phone can be dropped off at the Wayne Police Department 24 hours a day or at any City of Wayne government building during normal business hours.

For more information about the program and its benefits to our troops, see the website Cell Phones for Troops.

The Wayne Police Department is located at 33701 Michigan Ave. in Wayne.

Welcome to Wayne

Wayne Police Chief Ryan Strong, right, was on hand to welcome new Ofc. Raquel Ogarek to the department during the Feb. 15 meeting of the city council when she took her official oath of service. Ogarek joined the Wayne force after serving for three years with the Westland Police Department where she was also an advisor to the police Explorers program in the city.

Township employee earns association certification

Dawn Hadyniak, an election specialist in Sumpter Township Clerk Esther Hurst's office, was recently awarded the Michigan Professional Municipal Clerk designation by the Michigan Association of Municipal Clerks.

Hadyniak, who has been with the township for 5 years, began studying for the certification in 2018, but the COVID pandemic extended the usual 3-year program for all candidates. She earned her official designation from the state association last year after completing all the requirements including 120 hours of educational programming. She must now continue to obtain education points to maintain her certification.

The certification program was launched in January of 2014 to encourage city, township and village clerks to seek continuing education specifically related to the duties of their offices, according to a prepared statement from the organization. The group believes a focus on education is essential for municipal clerks to provide informed, quality leadership for their communities in the face of constant legislative change and increased demands on public servants.

SKYWARN training is set

Training sessions for the SKYWARN volunteer severe weather spotter program have been scheduled for 6 p.m. April 6 at Sumpter Township Hall, noted Assistant Supervisor/Trustee Tim Rush during a recent meeting.

Sumpter Township is certified under the SKYWARN criteria and the training sessions are open to the public. He explained that this year, Huron Township officials have inquired about joining Sumpter training in an effort to qualify for SKYWARN certification for early warning of weather-related emergencies.

There is no cost for the training.

Caribbean concerts planned by Philharmonic

It may still be winter in Michigan but music lovers everywhere can enjoy a warm evening of Caribbean sounds on Friday, March 11 as the Michigan Philharmonic presents a tropical adventure featuring the pulsating rhythms of dynamic steelpan soloist Josanne Francis.

Led by Conductor and Music Director Nan Washburn, now in her 23rd season, the orchestra will perform a number of pieces featuring Francis and the steelpan, including Jan Bach's unique "Concerto for Steelpan and Orchestra."

Sure to be a vibrant and joyous evening, this concert mixes all of the cultural sounds of Latin America and the Caribbean, including sultry themes galore, from Louis Moreau Gottschalk's "Symphony No. 1: A Night in the Tropics" to Morton Gould's "Tropical." Other pieces include George Gershwin's "Cuban Overture" and Arturo Márquez's "Conga del Fuego Nuevo."

The concert will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the First United Methodist Church of Plymouth and also includes a side-by-side performance with the Michigan Philharmonic Youth Orchestra Symphony during the Gershwin piece.

Born and raised in the twin-island Republic of Trinidad & Tobago, Francis is an internationally known steelpan performer and music educator. She has performed at venues such as the Kennedy Center and Carnegie Hall, and has appeared as a guest artist and clinician at festivals and universities across the United States.

Francis was one of six Artists in Residence at Strathmore Music Center for the 2017-2018 season and has presented at Arts Education and STEAM conferences in Maryland and Washington, DC. She currently operates her own educational steelpan program called Steel on Wheels which has had residencies across the state of Maryland, Washington DC, and New York.

For tickets, contact the Michigan Philharmonic at www.michiganphil.org or call (734) 451-2112 or info@michiganphil.org.

All Philharmonic concerts are subject to time and date changes as well as health restrictions already in place at the venues listed. To protect everyone involved in their performances the Philharmonic is asking patrons to wear masks during the performances.

Whipple Award nominations sought in Plymouth

Nominations are now being accepted in Plymouth for the Ruth Huston-Whipple Award for Civic Engagement.

The award is named in honor of Ruth Huston-Whipple, the first female elected Plymouth City Commissioner (1934-1949), first female mayor of Plymouth (1940-1942) and first female Wayne County Board of Supervisors member. She was a 1913 graduate of Plymouth High School and later worked as a teacher and debate coach at the school.

Mrs. Whipple fought against school policies that discriminated against married women and eventually left the district in protest. She remained, however, a leader in the Plymouth community, championing the improvement of inhumane conditions at a local juvenile detention center and addressing environmental and beautification concerns in the city. The purpose of the Ruth Huston-Whipple Award for Civic Engagement is to honor a community member who, like Ruth Huston-Whipple, has positively impacted the quality of life in the City of Plymouth through his or her exceptional civic and/or philanthropic engagement in the community above and beyond reasonable expectations; demonstrated character; commitment and/or leadership qualities; actively participated in community or civic organizations whose sphere of influence falls within the City of Plymouth and exemplified accomplishments and contributions to the economic vitality and/or residential quality of life in the City of Plymouth.

Nominees must have demonstrated engagement, leadership and achievement over a period of time.

A person nominated must have demonstrated civic and/or philanthropic engagement within the City of Plymouth. Examples of impact should show a community benefit, delivered with integrity and perseverance. Married couples can be nominated although past Ruth Huston-Whipple Award recipients, current members of the Plymouth

City Commission and full-time employees of the City of Plymouth are not eligible to be nominated.

The nomination period closes April 30 of each year when a selection committee comprising two mayor-appointed city commissioners and a representative from the City of Plymouth administration will select and notify the winner(s).

The nomination form is available at plymouthmi.gov/nomination.

Past Ruth Huston-Whipple Award Winners were Debra Madonna in 2020 and the late Jim Jabara in 2021.

Warm results Ice Festival helps city business

According to survey results, the 40th Annual Ice Festival in Plymouth was a great success.

The survey, sent out to local merchants and businesses by the Downtown Development Authority, asked local business owners and operators to answer five questions about the festival which took place throughout the downtown area Feb. 11 through 13.

According to the survey, nearly 65 percent of the respondents saw an increase in foot traffic in their business during the event this year, while 17.65 did not and 17.65 percent said the foot traffic was about the same. At the same time, 52.94 of the respondents saw an increase in sales during the weekend while 29.41 percent did not and 15.65 percent said business was about the same as last year.

The Bingo Scavenger Hunt helped about 35.29 percent of businesses “a lot” while it helped 23.53 percent “a little”. Only 5.88 percent said the game did not help at all. Of the respondents, 35.29 percent said they did not participate in the bingo game.

Comments on the survey included compliments about the ice being displayed throughout the downtown area. Merchants said was a great way to keep crowds moving through town and showing off the businesses and features in the community.

Having more public events, restrooms and warming tents or fire pits like Campus Marius provides along with marshmallow roasts was also suggested. In addition, having the business name on the sculptures was suggested.

Some merchants felt scheduling the event around the Superbowl and Valentine's Day “wasn't a good idea.”

NORTHVILLE - ROMULUS

Bond funding to save school district $140,000

A bond refunding by the Northville Public Schools is expected to save district taxpayers $140,000 in interest costs during the next two years.

In a prepared announcement, district officials said the savings will be generated by selling bonds at a low interest rate and using the proceeds to pay down bonds with a higher interest rate. “The savings are net of all bond issuance costs and directly benefit district taxpayers,” the statement noted.

Superintendent of Northville Schools Mary K. Gallagher explained the decision to pursue this transaction was financial.

“While the bonds being refunded could not be called until this year and had only two years left until they matured, we still felt the savings was significant enough to pursue this transaction. We take our responsibility to the taxpayers seriously, and when an opportunity like this presented itself, we knew it was the prudent thing to do.”

Assistant Superintendent for Finance and Operations Michael Zopf coordinated this transaction for the district.

the refunding. The bond sale bid process was led by the public finance arm of Raymond James and Associates.

Local Raymond James Financial Advisor Todd Knickerbocker said he was pleased with the results.

“While Raymond James is a nationally respected financial firm, our success comes from our commitment to our local communities. I live and work in Northville and am proud Raymond James could help our Schools save taxpayers over $140,000,” he said.

“I was a bit nervous about the timing given the uncertainty in the market, but I could not be more pleased with the response to our request for bids. The bids we received clearly show that Northville Community Schools has a strong reputation for the way we manage our finances. I am grateful for the work of our financing team that helped put this process together which resulted in these savings,” Zopf said.

District administrators were advised by PFM Financial Services and Thrun Law Firm provided legal services regarding

Task force chooses new location for Farmers Market

The Northville Farmers Market is shopping for a new location.

The proposed development of the Northville Downs property will necessitate the move of the market from the current Seven Mile Road and Center Street location by 2024. Representatives from Hunter Pasteur Northville, LLC, developer of the Downs property said plans for the development will force the market to move.

During a recent presentation to the city council, members of the Farmers Market Task Force explained that they had

The post office property would have been exceptional, but we can't count on the land being vacated any time soon, reviewed 15 potential sites for the market and eventually selected the property formerly occupied by McDonald Ford near the intersection of Seven Mile Road and Main Street as the preferred site. There were two other sites the task force members also found desirable for the market, the city Foundry Flask property and the downtown post office property.

The Foundry Flask property, however, was recently sold to a residential developer and there is no projected date for the long rumored and discussed relocation of the post office.

“The post office property would have been exceptional, but we can't count on the land being vacated any time soon, even though there has been discussion about it relocating since I've lived in Northville,” said Task Force Chair Andrew Krenz during the meeting presentation.

The goal is the construction of a 12,000 square-foot building to serve the 34,000 shoppers who utilize the market vendors during the months it is open. Task force members explained that the costs for the project will have to be funded by grants and donations. Included in the plans are adjacent amenities and parking. Task force members said the site could develop into a multi-purpose facility used by the public and available year round.

“The business plan for this project is critical,” explained Mayor Pro-Tem Barbara Morowski-Browne. “A project like this has to be self-sustaining because it certainly can't be a future financial burden to the chamber of commerce or the city.”

10 charging stations for electric vehicles now available

The last of 10 new EV charging stations were installed in downtown Northville recently as part of a contract between the Downtown Development Authority (DDA) and Red E Charging, LLC, of Detroit.

Four level 2 charging stations are located at the lower level of the Cady Street parking deck and at the Northville Square parking lot near the parking deck ramp, and two units have replaced those installed in 2018 at the surface parking lot at Wing and Main.

“We're really excited to have these new charging stations,” said Lori Ward, DDA director. “As part of the city's enhanced EV infrastructure, they will fill a growing need in the region to be able to charge electric vehicles faster.”

The DDA was paying approximately $4,000 annually to provide free EV charging. The five-year contract allows the DDA to retain an annual cost sharing of 3.4 percent of the revenue generated, officials said. To fuel an EV vehicle, the energy cost is $1.50 compared to $2.76 per gallon for an internal combustion engine (ICE) vehicle, according to the Dept. of Energy eGallon website. On average, it costs motorists about 50 percent less to drive an electric vehicle, according to the website.

With a charging speed of 19.2 kW, it takes two to four hours for a full charge. On average, according to the company, customers spend one to two hours in the area while their vehicle is charging.

The new EV charging stations can be found on many online locator sites, such as PlugShare and ChargeHub. Signs are being made for the spaces denoting they are for active charging only with a three-hour maximum. Non-EVs are not permitted to park in the spaces.

Grand reopening

City officials and members of the community helped celebrate the reopening of a beloved business in Romulus last month. Romulus Flowers & Gifts celebrated the business reopening Feb. 9 following a devastating fire in an adjacent building which forced the business to close last August. The remodeled shop includes an upgraded showroom floor and new flooring, ceiling tiles, insulation and HVAC system at the Merriman Road location.

Inkster - Westland

Marijuana information meeting is scheduled

The City of Inkster will host a free cannabis workshop and conference on Saturday.

The workshop, hosted by attorney Soujoud Hamade and the City of Inkster, is for educational purposes only and will not offer legal advice and will not create an attorney-client relationship, officials said.

Hamade is the Founder of HNH Law Group, a Dearborn Heights law firm with a focus on assisting businesses, start-ups, and non-profits, ranging from their formation to their long-term compliance needs and strategic planning. The firm specializes in cannabis law, business law, property and real estate law, contract law, and laws affecting nonprofit and tax-exempt organizations.

She began her legal career at Dykema Gossett, where she was an associate member of the Government Policy Practice Group and focused on election, campaign finance, and lobby law; cannabis licensing; immigration law; energy law; and laws impacting nonprofit and tax-exempt organizations.

The conference is an effort to educate the residents of the city and others about the state regulations regarding cannabis licensing. The city licensing permit process, the business of cannabis, opportunities in the industry and other related topics will be discussed, officials said.

The event is scheduled to take place from noon until 3 p.m. on Saturday, March 5 at Inkster City Hall, 26215 Trowbridge in Inkster.

Inkster teen charged with shooting at car

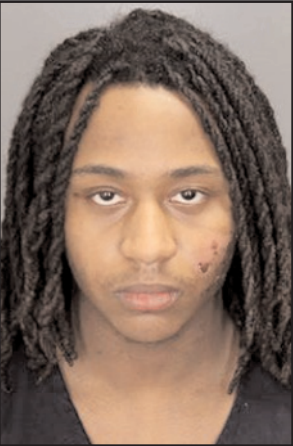

An Inkster man is facing multiple counts, including fleeing and eluding officers, malicious destruction of police property and reckless driving.

Kallen Larenz Careathers, 19, was arrested Feb. 15 by Southfield police in connection with the shooting that took place in Detroit.

A caller reported to Southfield police around 11:20 a.m. that they had just been shot at in Detroit. The caller, who had a 1-month-old infant in their vehicle, said they were following the suspect car on the freeway near the Southfield freeway. Police reports indicate that officers responded immediately and attempted to stop the suspect vehicle, driven by the defendant.

Police reports said the driver slowed down and then attempted to flee from officers by striking the patrol car with his vehicle. In an ensuing pursuit, officers used a precision intervention technique, or PIT, which disabled the suspect vehicle near Parkside and Santa Clara in Detroit.

Careathers was arrested at the scene. He was arraigned Feb. 20 in 46th District Court in Southfield on multiple charges and remains in the Oakland County Jail in lieu of a $25,000 bond.

Boots vs. Badges

The City of Westland recently hosted an American Red Cross Blood Drive during which officials hoped to collect 24 units of desperately needed blood donations. Currently, according to officials, there is a severe blood crisis in the state and across the country due to the COVID pandemic and multiple weather disasters. The annual Boots vs. Badges competition in Westland resulted in the collection of 32 units of blood which will help 96 patients in need. This year, Westland Fire and Rescue personnel put the flame out on the Westland Police Department 2-year hot streak of recruiting the most donors. Representatives of each department were on hand recently to accept the thanks of the community.

Patient stabs employee at Reuther psychiatric facility

Michigan State Police were called to the Walter Reuther Psychiatric Hospital on Palmer Road in Westland last week in response to the stabbing of an employee by a patient.

Troopers were called to the facility at 1:55 p.m. Feb. 8, according to police reports of the incident.

The patient allegedly retrieved a piece of metal from the ceiling in his room and hid it in the waistband of his pants. He then approached an employee in the hallway of the facility and without warning stabbed the man repeatedly in the neck and shoulder area, according to reports of the incident.

The assailant was restrained by other patients and staff members, according to officials, and the injured man transported to a nearby hospital by Westland emergency responders. After medical treatment, he was expected to recuperate from the non-life-threatening injuries sustained in the attack, according to reports.

The name of the patient involved has not been released by authorities but will be included in an investigation report which will be submitted to the office of the Wayne County prosecutor, according to police sources.
